NEW PORCELAIN PARQUET FROM TILE MOUNTAIN

Originating from Versailles in the late sixteenth century parquet flooring was once the choice of luxury flooring for palaces and homes of the very rich. Today the desire for the natural beauty of parquet flooring continues although the associated costs are high making it beyond the budget of many homeowners.

Tile Mountain's new Kanna floor tile range offers the perfect solution. Made from hardwearing porcelain and comprising a choice of three neutral colourways the range offers a realistic replication of aged wood. Each tile measures 608mm x 608mm and is 10mm thick with a matt finish. Easy to maintain and requiring no post-installation sealing the Kanna range is priced at £13.99 per sq m.
